EagleEye Analytics Announces Successful Canadian Launch

Columbia, SC - EagleEye Analytics, the leading provider of world class predictive analytics solutions to the property and casualty insurance industry, announced today the successful launch of its predictive analytics solution and advisory services in the Canadian market.

Terry Wade, CEO of EagleEye Analytics commented, "We are extremely gratified by the reception we have received in Canada. Since entering that market in mid-2009 we have had the good fortune to work with eight leading carriers and our momentum and growth prospects are very positive." Wade added, "We believe this success reflects the strength of our value proposition...powerful results, delivered very quickly, enabling our clients to drive action versus prolonged study." Marlowe Leibensperger, Senior Vice President, Consulting Practice Leader said, "We promote nimbleness in changing markets and we provide exceptionally talented advisory services to help our clientele focus on the most value adding marketing, pricing and underwriting actions available to them."
